2. Elementos de una referencia bibliográfica

Referencia bibliográfica

1. Tipo de documento: libro, artículo, tesis, capítulo de libro, actas de congresos, páginas web, etc.
2. Formato y disponibilidad: impreso, electrónico, en línea, etc.
3. Elementos informativos: autor, título, edición, lugar de edición, editorial, año, página de inicio y fin, enlace web, fecha de consulta web, etc.
4. Orden de los elementos: Apellidos, año de publicación, fechas de consulta web, etc.
5. Relación entre elementos: puntuación, negritas, cursivas, mayúsculas, etc.

3. Gestores bibliográficos

- Herramientas para la organización de documentos; base de datos de referencias bibliográficas.
- Pueden añadir documentos a texto completo.
- Las referencias pueden ser compartidas con otros usuarios interesados en el mismo tema.
- Permiten trabajar con las referencias desde un equipo local y/o a través de Internet, sincronizando los registros.
- Ofrecen soluciones para importar referencias procedentes de catálogos bibliográficos, bases de datos, otras bibliografías, etc.
- Se integran con procesadores de texto, para incluir las referencias de forma directa en los documentos.
- Exportan las referencias en diferentes codificaciones para que puedan ser importadas desde otros gestores, redes o servicios
- Posibilitan la creación de bibliografías, siguiendo múltiples estilos.

2015
Citation impact indicators nowadays play an important role in research evaluation, and consequently these indicators have received a lot of attention in the bibliometric and scientometric literature. This paper provides an in-depth review of the literature on citation impact indicators. First, an overview is given of the literature on bibliographic databases that can be used to

The screenshot shows the Mendeley Desktop interface. At the top, there is a toolbar with icons for 'Add to', 'Remove from folder', and 'Delete'. Below this, two document entries are visible, each with a checked checkbox and a star icon. The first entry is 'A review of the literature on citation impact indicators' by Waltman L in Journal of Informetrics. The second entry is 'On full text download and cit...' by Moed H, Halevi G in Journal of the As... A blue context menu is open over the first document, showing 'Add 2 documents to' with a close button (X). Below this menu, there are two tabs: 'My Library' (selected) and 'Groups'. A list of folders is displayed below the tabs, including 'Create Folder...', 'Favorites', 'My Publications', 'Integración', 'Libro electrónico y bibliotecas', 'Medios sociales', and 'Métricas alternativas'. A red arrow points from the 'Add to' icon in the toolbar to the 'Integración' folder in the list.

6. Importar referencias a Mendeley

Import from websites

The web importer allows you to import papers, web pages and other documents into your library from search engines and academic databases.

Drag and drop

Drag any PDF directly into Mendeley from your desktop or folders which you can then instantly annotate, cite, and highlight.

Import from existing software

Mendeley can import BibTeX, RIS and EndNote™ XML files so you can easily transfer your library from EndNote™, Papers and Zotero.

Automatically watch folders

Choose a folder on your computer to "watch". When you next add papers to that folder, they are also automatically added to your Mendeley library.

The article title is 'Cancer immunology and canine malignant melanoma: A comparative review'. The authors listed are Matthew J. Atherton^a, Joanna S. Morris^b, Mark R. McDermott^c, and Brian D. Lichty^a. The DOI is 10.1016/j.vetimm.2015.11.003. There is a 'Show more' button and a 'Get rights and content' link.

The abstract text reads: 'Oral canine malignant melanoma (CMM) is a spontaneously occurring aggressive tumour with relatively few medical treatment options, which provides a suitable model for the disease in humans. Historically, multiple immunotherapeutic strategies aimed at provoking both innate and adaptive anti-tumour immune responses have been published with varying levels of activity against CMM. Recently, a plasmid DNA vaccine expressing human tyrosinase has been licensed for the adjunct treatment of oral CMM. This article reviews the immunological similarities between CMM and the human counterpart; mechanisms by which tumours evade the immune system; reasons why melanoma is an...'

Abstract

El metabolismo es el conjunto de reacciones químicas que realizan las células de los seres vivos para sintetizar sustancias complejas a partir de otras más simples, o para degradar las complejas y obtener las simples. Las plantas, organismos autótrofos, además del metabolismo primario presente en todos los seres vivos, poseen un metabolismo secundario que les permite producir y acumular compuestos de naturaleza química diversa. Estos compuestos derivados del metabolismo secundario se denominan metabolitos secundarios, se distribuyen diferencialmente entre grupos taxonómicos, presentan propiedades biológicas, muchos desempeñan funciones ecológicas y se caracterizan por sus diferentes usos y aplicaciones como
